LORD ROSEBERRY'S SPEECH.

THE LIBERAL VIEW.

GREAT HELP TO THE BUDGET.

THE FIGHT WITH THE LORDS.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

Mr. Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the course of an interview, described the speech which Lord Roseberry delivered at Glasgow as a soft-soaped torpedo.

Colonel Seely, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Colonies, in the course of a speech at Liverpool, said that Lord Roseberry's speech was incoherent. If the Lords used their power to destroy the Budget, the people would use theirs to destroy the peers.

Mr. F. D. Acland, Financial Secretary to the War Office, speaking at Penzance, Yorkshire, said that there were a number of peers known in London as "wild men from the woods" who regarded land taxes from so narrow and selfish a standpoint as not to be willing, in the event of Mr. Balfour and his people thinking it best, to let the Finance Bill pass to obey Lord Lansdowne. If that happened, and, despite the Conservative party, those wild uncontrollable peers who emerged from their hiding-places only on great occasions, rejected the Budget, then as surely as to-morrow's sun would rise the Budget would smash them.

Dr. J. J. Macnamara, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, in the course of a speech at Grimsby, said that Lord Roseberry's speech was reminiscent of the lackaday of Rhema. Lord Roseberry and Unionists were at one regarding the Budget, but while Unionists proposed the alternative of tariff reform, Lord Roseberry had no practical alternative.

Any tampering with the Budget by the House of Lords, Dr. Macnamara said, would lead to a declaration by the people against the peers.

Several national newspapers bitterly criticised and complained of Lord Roseberry's speech.

THE SCOTTISH LIBERALS.

SHOULD THE LORDS REJECT.

THEIR CORONETS ENDANGERED.

Mr. Alexander Ure, Lord Advocate for Scotland, speaking at Coventry, said that as an attack on the Budget, Lord Roseberry's speech was hopelessly ineffective, futile, harmless, and vain. It was the greatest help the Budget had yet received.

There were only two ways of attacking the Budget, Mr. Ure continued. A critic could say, "The expenditure is wrong," or "this is not the right way to raise the money. I will show you a better." Since Lord Roseberry had not assumed either position it was clear that he, like Lord Rotherchild and the other great bankers, knew that this Budget was the only just and fair method to secure the necessary millions.

Mr. J. H. Gulland, a Junior Lord of the Treasury, and Chief Whip for Scottish members, speaking at Edinburgh, said that the enthusiasm everywhere shown for the Budget would be increased by the fact that the "raven croaking on his withered branch."

If the House of Lords rejected the Budget, Mr. Gulland added, they would raise an issue which might cost them their coronets. A mandate must then be received, besides, to carry the Finance Bill, to curb permanently the cruel and blighting power of the Lords.

UNIONIST ATTITUDE.

A TREMENDOUS CRITICISM.

Mr. Walter H. Long (Conservative), in the course of a speech at Market Lavington, Wiltshire, said that the indictment of the Budget by Lord Roseberry was so powerful and trenchant that it left nothing to be said by anybody in furtherance of the campaign against the Finance Bill.

The "Sheffield Telegraph" suggests that Lord Roseberry "should come down from Olympian heights and fight the Budget." The "Birmingham Post" says:—"The Glasgow statement will do much to cause voters to think hard."

The "Pall Mall Gazette" states:—"Opinion in the City is almost unanimous that Lord Roseberry has smashed the Budget. The speech is bound to have a tremendous effect in Scotland."

ANOTHER SPEECH WANTED.

INVITATION FROM NEWCASTLE.

Business men of Newcastle have invited Lord Roseberry to address them on the Budget.

THE LIBERAL LEAGUE.

LORD ROSEBERRY RESIGNS.

Lord Roseberry resigned the Presidency of the Liberal League before delivering his speech at Glasgow.

Mr. Asquith (the Prime Minister), Sir Edward Grey (Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs), and Mr. H. B. Haldane (Secretary of State for War), are among the vice-presidents.

REPORTED CABINET DIFFERENCES.

The "Times" writes that the impression is gaining ground that a section of the Cabinet regards the present proposals for land taxation and valuation as the first step to land nationalisation.

UNITED STATES TARIFF.

THE BOARD OF ADVICE.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

Professor Emery, Professor of Political Economy at Yale University, Mr. J. B. Reynolds, Assistant Secretary to the Treasury, and Mr. Sanders, of Chicago, editor of the "Brookings Gazette," will compose the board of authorities under the tariff law, to assist President Taft in the application of the sections relating to the maximum and minimum rates of duty under the Tariff Act.

HAWAII NAVAL BASE.

DOCK CONTRACT LET.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

With a view to making the Sandwich Islands (Hawaii) a naval and military stronghold, a contract has been signed at Washington for the construction of a dry-dock at Pearl Harbour, near Honolulu.

The dock, which will be 110 feet in length, will be the largest ever built for the United States navy.

THE NORTH POLE.

COMMANDER PEARY'S OUTLOOK.

NO LAND IN SIGHT.

A DEEP SOUNDING.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

Commander Peary states that he went 10 miles beyond his camp at the North Pole and eight miles to the right of the camp, taking photographs and depositing records. He also studied the horizon with a telescope for possible land, but found no signs.

Commander Peary informs the State Department that he has possession of the entire region on behalf of the President of the United States.

SOUNDING NEAR THE POLE.

Commander Peary, five miles from the Pole, sounded 1500 fathoms, but found no bottom.

TRADE UNION CONGRESS.

STATE SUPPORT OF CHILDREN.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

The Trades Union Congress at Ipswich has closed.

It was resolved by congress that a democratic education policy should include scientific physical education, medical treatment for all requiring it, open-air recovery schools, and secondary and technical education to bear the cost by means of grants, and the restoration of misappropriated education endowments.

EVIL OF UNEMPLOYMENT.

INTENSIFIED BY STATE AID.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

A Blue Book issued as an appendix to the report of the Royal Commission on Poor Laws contains a report by Mr. Cyril Jackson and the Rev. J. Fringle on unemployment.

They contend that relief works, whether national or municipal, under the Unemployment Act, have intensified the evil. They state their belief that industry is at present unorganised economically, though the trade unions have done their best to steady labour.

CHEAPIDE JEWEL ROBBERY.

HEAVY SENTENCES.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

George Taylor (no occupation), William Russell (tailor), and John Taylor (painter) have been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for being concerned in the breaking and entering of and robbery from the Cheapide premises of Messrs. Mappin and Webb, jewellers, on August 22.

Charles Gurnon (billiard-player) was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment. Charles Knight (furniture porter) was acquitted.

The robbery at Mappin and Webb's was conducted in a most daring manner. Using a duplicate key, 10 smartly-dressed men entered the shop during the afternoon, and with a jenny assaulted the watchman, inflicting the serious head wound which has since kept him unconscious, in order to prevent him raising an alarm. While he was unconscious they entered the shop, and having done so, escaped, but before the other five had collected sufficient to satisfy themselves the watchman recovered consciousness and having to the door of the shop shouted "Police." The remaining five men thereupon attempted to depart, but as they were emerging from the shop with several thousand pounds' worth of jewellery and plate they were arrested. The five, the latter being intended to conceal the stolen goods, were found in possession of the stolen goods, and the value of £4,000 was recovered.

BRESCIA AVIATION WEEK.

SUCCESS OF MR. CURTIS.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

A successful aviation week has been held at Brescia, Italy. Mr. Glen H. Curtis (United States) won the speed prize, covering 50 kilometres (31 miles) in 40m.

Mr. Rouger was winner of the high flight, attaining a height of 880ft.

NEW BRITISH DESTROYERS.

SEA-KEEPING IN ALL WEATHERS.

ANOTHER TYPE OF TURBINE.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

"Engineering" states that the Admiralty has placed orders for 20 destroyers with a speed of 29 knots.

Their construction will enable them to keep the seas in all weathers. Seventeen will be fitted with Parsons's turbines, and three with Curtis turbines.

The Curtis system of turbine, which the cable informs us will be fitted to three of the new destroyers, is that the expansion of the steam occurs not only in the fixed blades, but also in the moving blades; whereas in the "impulse" type the steam expands only when it passes through the fixed blades, and not in passing through the moving blades of the Parsons turbine strikes the moving blades and "blows" them round by the "impulse" imparted. But at the same time as the steam flows through these moving blades it falls in pressure and expands; its velocity is consequently increased, and there is thus a "reaction" in the discharge from each ring of moving blades. In the Curtis turbine there is no such "reaction," and the motion is imparted to the rotating portion wholly by the "impulse" this turbine is designed on the one shaft-turbine system.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION.

CAPTAIN SCOTT'S EXPEDITION.

A START NEXT YEAR.

A BASE IN VIRGIN LAND.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

Lieutenant Shackleton will give the benefit of his recent experiences to the preparations for the expedition of Captain R. F. Scott, R.N., to the Antarctic. The cost is estimated at £40,000.

Captain Scott hopes to start in August, 1910. He intends, with a view to investigating virgin areas, to establish in King Edward VII. Land a second base, 400 miles to the eastward of M'Urdo Sound, the base in his previous expedition.

The expedition will take Manchurian ponies to carry food to the foot of the glaciers, and their place will then be taken by Eskimo dogs. Captain Scott will also utilise improved motor sledges, which have been satisfactorily tested in Norway.

AMERICAN AMBITION.

FLAG AT BOTH POLES.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

Commander Peary's exploit has given a great impetus to the American idea of flying the Stars and Stripes at both Poles. There is renewed talk of equipping an Antarctic expedition.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

EXPERIMENTS WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

SHILLING A WORD SERVICE.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

The "Daily Mail" writes that experiments are shortly about to be made with a view to a wireless service between Great Britain and South Africa.

It is proposed to elevate kites 1000ft. in Cornwall and collect the Hertzian waves. A station will be erected at Gibraltar to collect the waves at a cost of £20,000.

Should each successive South African Union Government grant £1000 a year to the service, it would reduce the proposed general service of a land tariff by a penny. A grant of £10,000 would make the rate 1d a word.

INCREASED FRENCH TAXATION.

RAISING EIGHT MILLIONS.

ADDED DUTIES ON LUXURIES.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

M. Cochery, French Minister for Finance, in his Budget for 1910, proposes to meet the deficit of £8,000,000 by an increase of £2,500,000 in the tobacco taxes, £1,500,000 increase in the taxes on wine, brandy, and abutment, and £1,500,000 increase in the legacy duty.

M. Cochery also proposes taxes on motor cars and petrol, and a stamp duty on receipts.

Another proposal of M. Cochery's for producing additional revenue is the sale to wine-growers of a State label, to be affixed to each bottle of genuine wine guaranteeing its purity. The cost of the label will vary according to the price of the wine.

FIGHTING IN MOROCCO.

SPANISH ARMY'S MARCH.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

The Spanish brigade, under General Aguilera, has left Arkanam, and on the march devastated a stretch of splendid country, exploding and burning every farm, village, and house; also destroying the crops.

A few Moors who surrendered were generously treated.

COLLISION AT SEA.

FRENCH BARQUE INJURED.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

An unknown steamer ran down the French barque Notre Dame d'Arvor, bound for Hobart. The hold was flooded, and 80 tons of cement were jettisoned.

The Notre Dame d'Arvor was towed to Falmouth.

ALPINE FATALITIES.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

Two tourists and a guide were caught in a windstorm and mist in the Monchjoch Jungfrau, in the Middle Alps. They were frozen to death.

LOSS OF THE SLAVONIA.

THE MASTER BLAMED.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

The finding of the Board of Trade inquiry into the loss of the steamer Slavonia, which was wrecked at Flores, in the Azores, shows that the disaster was due to default and error of judgment on the part of the master.

The Cunard liner Slavonia on June 10 struck on the rocks 2 miles to the south of Flores Island, during a dense fog, and after 12 hours' work by "wireless" the Slavonia located the North German Lloyd steamer Princess Irene, 180 miles to the westward, and an hour later picked up the Hamburg-American liner Batavia, both of which vessels subsequently united in taking off the 450 passengers. They started for Gibraltar on the following morning. A despatch sent by "wireless" at the time stated:—"The Slavonia is full of water. For ever have landed at Velas, on the island of Flores. The Cunard liner was feeling her way south of the island when she suddenly struck. All efforts to back her off proved fruitless, and thereupon the C.G.D. call was sent out."

Another message stated that the wireless of the Republic was equalled, if not excelled, immediately the Princess Irene, 180 miles away, picked up the distress signals, the operator flashed back his answer, and ascertained the position of the stricken ship. The German boat then cautiously crept through the mist, and every soul on board the Slavonia was saved. The Slavonia's English Marconi operator's name is S. Cole.

FEA-RIFLE FATALITY.

MOREE, Monday.

James Martin was accidentally shot at Alice Ridge, when he was yesterday, and was removed to the district hospital. He died last night, when he was suddenly struck. The cause of the accident was a misfired rifle. The rifle was being used for target practice, and the bullet struck Martin in the chest.

THE MISSING WARATAH.

NAVAL OFFICER'S RELIEF.

WELL-EQUIPPED SEARCH.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

Reuter's correspondent at Capetown says that belief is still prevalent in naval circles that the Waratah is afloat.

Rear-Admiral Egerton, Commander-in-Chief, Cape of Good Hope, personally superintended the fitting out of the search steamer Sabine.

The embarkation of a blue-jacket search-light crew caused great satisfaction, and is regarded as ensuring exhaustive night searches.

FRUITLESS SEARCH.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

On arrival to-day of the steamer Salamis from London, via Capetown, Captain Schlemm, although a keen watch was kept, the Salamis left Capetown on August 24 days after the Waratah was due to reach there. A more southerly course than usual was steered, and two men were continually aloft. In addition to the search-light crew, a probable radius and visibility of 23 miles was exhibited from the mast-head from sunset to sunrise. There were many vessels out searching for the Waratah, but the Salamis did not sight any of them. When left Capetown, the Waratah was picked up by the Salamis. Captain Schlemm said that he had not lost all hope, although appearances were against his belief.

PORT CAROLINE LATE.

MAY HAVE FOUND THE WARATAH.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

Because the steamer Port Caroline, of the Anglo-Australian Line, was not yet arrived, it is surmised that she may have picked up the missing Waratah.

The Port Caroline and other steamers of that line generally traverse the great circle track.

The Port Caroline, even if she has not fallen in with the Waratah or met with a mishap, is by no means seriously overdue. She left London on July 17 for Adelaide direct, and although she was expected there on Friday, a long spell of adverse weather conditions would delay her for three or four days. The Port Caroline, which is purely a cargo carrier, of 4000 tons, is a vessel of 6400 tons, which arrived at Melbourne yesterday direct from Liverpool, having sailed 31 days on the voyage.

The letter was cancelled because the stamps were regarded as obsolete, unless they have been recalled.

DISPUTE AT HEBBURN COLLIERY.

FEDERATION OFFICIAL DISMISSED.

THREATS OF GENERAL STRIKE.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

The dismissal of Mr. Albert Burns, the secretary of the Hebburn miners' lodge, appears likely to cause serious trouble. It is one of the rules obtaining in the collieries throughout the district that any employee desiring to absent himself from work for more than two consecutive days must give notice in writing of his intention to the colliery manager. Mr. Burns on September 1 wrote to the manager, Mr. Scott, as follows:—"I beg to inform you that I will be unable to attend work this afternoon on account of having to attend to lodge and federation business." It was not until Monday, September 6, however, that he again presented himself at the colliery, and he was then informed that he had broken the rule with regard to the notification of his absence, his services were no longer required.

On Saturday representatives of the Hebburn colliery and Mr. Burns' case before the management committee of the Hebburn Colliery Proprietors' Association, but they refused to interfere in any way with the course adopted by the manager. The management committee of the Hebburn miners, called specially for this purpose, and the association did not intend to interfere in the matter caused intense indignation, the men regarding it as a deliberate blow at the colliery employees' organization. Mr. Burns is a lengthy statement, explained that subsequent to writing the letter he had been informed that the management committee of the Hebburn Colliery Proprietors' Association, but they refused to interfere in any way with the course adopted by the manager.
